FIXING FOR A LIVELY FIGHT ON HIS

Counting of Hends Showing a Majority Against Illm in the Presbytery-Charges that he was Acquitted by Undue Influence. The enthusiasm with which the Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage has been received in England has not soothed the opposition of his cierical brethren in Brooklyn, and hot water is being prepared by them into which he will be plunged as soon as he lands. The appeal in the case of the charges of falsehood and deceit of which he was acquitted are to be heard by the Long Island Synod at Jamaica early in October, and from that body an order setting saids the judgont of the Presbytery as not in harmony with the facts, and to direct the Presbytery to reconider the case on the evidence. If this is the order of the Synod, there exists no doubt of the ate of Dr. Talmage when he gets back into the hands of his fellow Presbyters, for a counting heads now shows a majority that is im placably anti-Taimage and ready to declare him guilty, and either to censure him er to suspend him from the ministry of the Presby-terian denomination. The strong feeling in the case would probably lead to this last named sentence, as Dr. Talmage's ridicule and taunts have only served to enhance the bitterness of his brethren. The vote acquittal was 24 to 20, the counsel in the case not voting. On a reconsideration of the judgment the counsel can vote, and the vote of Messrs. Crosby and McCullagh, who served the prosecution, would be cast against Dr. Talmage. The Rev. Mr. Millard, of Dr. almage's counsel, has left the Presbytery, and could not therefore have a vote. Accordingly als counsel, that of the venerable Dr. Spear. It sally to vote with the anti-Talmage faction, thus asking twenty-four votes to twenty-one for Dr. almage. Then the Bey. Mr. Martin, who did of the votes on the trial, is counted as ready to take up twenty-five votes. The Hev. Dr. uyler, it is said, would, if he abandoned his on-committal position, vote against Dr. Talage, but his vote would be offset by the Rev. ames M. Ludlow, who stands as in Dr. Talage's favor.

Guyler, it is said, would, if he abandoned his non-committal position, vote against Dr. Talmage, but his vote would be offset by the Rev. James M. Ludlow, who stands as in Dr. Talmage, Stavor.

These surmises apply to the case only in the event that it is sent back to the Presbytery. The Brooklyn body, however, has no vote in the determination of this question. It will be passed upon exclusively by the staid preachers and elders from Long Island, many of them the strictest of the sect, and not abounding in sympathy for gymnastic theology.

There has been a spirited quarrel on hand between the factions over the control of the official copy of the evidence. The Presbytery has appointed a committee to defend its action before the Synod. The venerable Dr. Samuel T. Spear is the chairman of the Committee, and the Rev. J. E. Rockwell and the Rev. J. G. Williamson are his associates. The Presbytery directed the clerk, Mr. J. Milne Greene, to turn over to the Committee the official evidence in the case, so that they could prepare the defence. Mr. Greene is an anti-Talmage man, and refused to obey the order, claiming that he was the proper custodian of the records. Dr. Spear declared that this was unheard of, and he censured the clerk for disobedience to the order of the Presbytery. Mr. Greene was supported in his position by Dr. Van Dyke, Dr. Bulier, and others, and he persisted in his refusal to obey the order of the Presbytery, and said that the only way they could get the evidence was to turn him out of office and elect some one else. It was freely charged that the friends of Dr. Talmage intended to get possession of 's vidence and dny access to the members ... owere working up the arguments on appeal. At length a compromise was effected, but not until after some high words, by which the evidence was placed in the hands of Mr. Noyes, the Librarian of the Brooklyn Library, for inspection by any member of the Presbytery.

A leading member of the Presbytery informed the reporter that there would be no mincing matters b and pronouncing this would be ended by the lowship.

The whole trouble would be ended by the withdrawal of the Tabernaele and its pastor from the denomination, and the anti-Talmage Presbyters express a hope that they will do so. If, however, he does not, the case will be kept the determinant of the case will be the action. they desire the case will be carried up to the General Assembly.

SUNDAY AT OCEAN GROVE.

Twenty-two Thousand Persons Listening to Camp Meeting Services in the Rain.

OCEAN GROVE, Aug. 25.-Camp meeting Sunday, the greatest of the year to the worshippers at the seaside home of Methodism, was celebrated yesterday amid a dismal and con tinuous rain. The gates were closed to the public at midnight on Saturday, not to be opened until Monday morning. A needless Asbury Park could not conveniently hold another person. The congregations have been increasing for a week, and to-day the overflow of the auditorium was divided into two other meetings, while hundreds stood outside, under umbrollas, to hear the sermons and join in the hymns. Services began at 6A. M. with a consecration meeting, followed at 8½ by a love feast. At 10½, the Rev. G. Lansing Taylor preached in the auditorium. At the same time the Rev. Dr. Wallace conducted an experience meeting in the Bishop Janes Memorial Tabernacle, and Brother J. H. Thornley led a praise meeting in the Young People's Temple. The adult and juvenile Sunday schools were held at 2 P. M. in all the buildings. The Rev. J. E. Smith of Wilkesbarre, Pa. preached in the auditorium at 3 P. M. Vesper service was held on the beach at 6 P. M.

The Rev. W. P. Corbit of Jersey City delivered the evening sermon, which was followed by a prayer meeting. During the services the voices of the congregation raised in song were heard a mile away. The most admirable order prevailed. The ferry at Pigrims' pathway and the pontoon bridge at New Jersey avenue over Wesley Lake were in constant use all day by worshippers from Asbury Park, who could not get accommodations in the Grove. About 22,000 persons were present to-day. precaution, seemingly, for Ocean Grove and

NEWBURGH, Aug. 25.—The second inquest over the body of Jack Horton, who was found drowned at Fishkill, was concluded to-day. It was proved conclusively that Horton left De Groot & Wolfort's hotel on the night of Aug. 9 in company with John Day, and that both men were very drunk. Every thing points to the probability that Horton got out of Day's wagon after they had started for home and wandered off the wharf, and that Day was as intractated that he fiel not know what he came of him. It was shown to day that Horton's rela-tives were prolonging the question in the hope of setting evidence that Horton's came to his death through figuor procured at De Groot & Wolfort's, with a view of bring-ing a civil damage suit against hotel accordance in the two trees that Wolfort did, het and wood host so the years of age. He lives at New Utrecht, L. I., and, as he has a wife and seven children, he contributes to his scanty earnings by keeping cattle and tilling a few feet of ground. Near Mr. Kelly's house lives Patrick Gilbride, about 50 years old, a man of notoriously violent temper. He is married and has three children. the eldest of whom, Patrick, strongly resembles his father in disposition. Both father and son have served in the penitentiary, the latter for assaulting a policeman who was about to arrest his father, and the former for beating his wife. When the elder Gilbride was convicted, con-siderable influence was used in the township of New Utrecht to get him off with as light a pun-ishment as possible, and Judge Church of Fort Hamilton sentenced him to thirty days in the Hamilton sentenced him to thirty days in the penitentiary. This term he had but just completed, when, on Bunday morning, he committed a crime which will probably earn for him a much more severe punishment than he has yet undergone.

Gilbride and Keily have been acquainted with each other for some time, but they have not been very warm friends. Both are addicted to drinking, and in their cups they frequently quarrelle 1. Boon after one of their disputes a goat belonging to Gilbride died, and he accused Keily of having poisoned it. Keily laughed at the charge, but Gilbride persisted in making it, and on Saturday night, in the hotel kept by "Red" Leary's wife, he declared again and again that it was true.

At about 11 o'clock Gilbride, considerably the worse for liquor, started from the hotel for his home. In Concord street he mot Kelly near his own house. The old dispute was renewed, and Gilbride again accused Kelly of poisoning his goat. Kelly, infuriated, rushed into his house, and taking down a rusty old sword that was hanging on the wall, he ran at his antagonist. The latter shouted for assistance, and several men coming to the resoue, Kelly was diarmed and forced togo home. Gilbride remained up all night drinking, and plotting mesns of revenge. At 80 clock on Sunday morning he saw Kelly going out to attend to his cattle, which he keeps at a distance. He knew that his antagonist would return within an hour, and he loaded an old musket with pieces of metal and buckshot, and waited.

At about 90 clock Kelly was coming leisurely back from his work. He had nearly reached his own door when Gilbride, who was lying hidden, fired at him. The charge took effect in his neck and side, and he fell to the ground unconscious. It was thought that his wounds must prove immediately fatal, and the Rev. Pather Tanner was summoned from the slater to attend the supposedly dying man. In an hour however, he had recovered consciousness, and some hopes are entertained of his recovery.

Gilbride effected his escape, and has not been c

Holakofsky was passionately fond of music, and the Bohemian girl bought a piano, and secured the services of an instructor to teach her to play on the in-strument. To her sorrow she discovered that her in-tended ausband was rapidly growing careless of her, and she entreated him in vain to do as he had prouised. Then she went before Justice Potter in the Supreme Court, and secured an order of arrest, claiming damages in $10,000, and Holakofsky gave ball. The case is to be tried in a few days.

There are six other persons in the family, whom the health officers are watching closely to detect symptoms of the complaint. The tenement contains five ramilles beside the Hurkes.
